Symposium: “Collecting Medieval Art: Past, Present, and Future” at School of Visual Arts and Luhring Augustine

Maybe you’ve always wanted to buy medieval tapestries, stained glass pieces, icons, manuscripts, and artifacts, but you weren’t sure how to start. Thankfully, there’s a symposium for that. Luhring Augustine and the School of Visual Arts will co-host this event in Chelsea, which features talks from experts about displaying medieval objects and respecting their heritage. Curators from the Courtauld Institute of Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and the University of Pennsylvania Libraries are among those expected to talk at the event. In between their presentations, visitors are invited to walk a couple blocks west and visit Luhring Augustine’s exhibition “Of Earth and Heaven,” which brings together privately owned medieval works.

School of Visual Arts Theater and Luhring Augustine, 333 West 23rd Street and 531 West 24th Street, 9:30 a.m.–4 p.m. Free with RSVP to rsvp@luhringaugustine.com
